IMPORTANT TO CONSUMPTIVES.—Many valuable lives have been saved by Hagyard, Clark & Co.'s Genuine Cod Liver Oil, which, in all human probability would have been lost to the world for ever.

It is no quack medicine, but the Pure Oil, made with the utmost care from the Fresh Cod Fish Livers, and is prescribed by the most eminent physicians in Europe and America, and has proved by ten years' experience, the most valuable remedy for Consumption and Scrofula ever discovered, for while it cures the disease, it increases the health and strength of the patient.

Caution.—There is a great deal of Spurious Oil advertised and sold for Cod Liver Oil, which, in all cases of Consumption, is worse than useless, as it deranges the digestive organs, but being cheaper, is by unprincipled persons palmed off for the genuine.

None but Hagyard, Clark & Co.'s is entitled to rank by the name, and the Public are cautioned against purchasing any of the inferior kinds, as they will be disappointed in the result. Sold by all Druggists throughout the country.

HAGYARD, CLARK & CO.,
Manufacturing Chemists, Pittsburgh, Pa.

REMARKABLE FATALITY AND SINGULAR FACT.—More than nine-tenths of the Colds neglected in New England result in Consumption; more than one-half the deaths in Massachusetts are caused by Consumption; more than one-half of these deaths are inconsistent with their present connections.

We endorse the opinion of the Chronicle, and "go in" for a new State.

A treaty has been effected between the hostile Sioux and Chippewas, who have been carrying on a war of extermination for the last century, if not longer. We have very little faith in the efficiency of the treaty, as the Indian tribes are sworn to eternal hostility. We hope, however, we are not mistaken. A grand dance took place at the Sioux agency, after the treaty was consummated. The Chronicle says:

We hope the report is true, but are not yet prepared to believe it; and yet a little circumstance which happened in our streets a short time since, rather corroborates the rumor. A sleigh load of the head chiefs of the Sioux arrived at the American House, when they discovered a Chippewa on the other side of the street. They immediately passed over, extended the hand of friendship, produced the pipe of peace, and all seemed to be pleased with the meeting. The treaty, it is said, has been brought about by Major Pfaadrah. So says the Minnesotian.

The Chronicle reports large sales of real estate in superior City, and pronounces favorably on the progress of the roads between Superior City and Black Falls and St. Paul.

The St. Croix and Lake Superior Railroad, which has its northern terminus at Superior, is now under contract and in course of construction; it is to connect with the LaCrosse road at or near Hudson. This road is to be finished by the Fourth of July, 1859. There are also three other roads contemplated.

Navigation opened here last spring on the 9th of April, but owing to the ice on the St. Marys River, at the Sault de Ste. Marie, not passing, the first boat did not arrive here until the ninth of May. The prospect of an early spring is very flattering.

Up to the 20th of March the trip from St. Paul to this place could be made in a sleigh very comfortably; after the first of April the journey must be made on foot or horseback.

The mail contractor makes the trip in four days, and has stations at which his teams stop at night; if these connections are made, there is no necessity for camping out.

Arrest of the Slayers of Sprecks.

[Correspondence of the N. Y. Tribune.]

PHILADELPHIA, March 15, '57.

A telegraph dispatch was published in The Tribune in reference to the arrest of McKim, the alleged murderer of Dr. Sprecks, at Altoona, Penn. Since then, I have learned some of the particulars of the arrest, from Hick Constable Blackburn, and P. C. Hayes, the agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., who, with me, no doubt, prove interesting to the readers of your extensively circulated journal.

It appears that Aaron Wolf and T. A. B. Kenzie, of Bloomsburg, had some business which led them to cross the North Mountain, a spur of the Alleghanies, and after riding about ten miles they came to a "roadside" inn, known as the Pond Hotel. Here they alighted, and when the hostler appeared to take charge of the horses, the travelers recognized in the hostler the murderer of Sprecks, as the published description which they had on their persons minutely corresponded with the man before them.

While McKim went to the stable with the horses, Wolf and Kinzue repaired to the room and after making a constant of the landlord borrowed a rifle loaded with ball. With this they went into the yard, and as McKim came from the stable Wolf presented the rifle at his breast, at the same time saying, "you are wanted." McKim at once apprehended the cause of the action, and asked Wolf in a trembling manner if he was an officer, to which Wolf replied that he was, and intended to take him in charge. McKim made no resistance, but submitted quietly to the binding of his arms. In this condition he was taken to Bloomsburg, and from thence he will be conveyed to Harrisburg to await his trial.

McKim, when arrested, had one of the handbills on his person, giving a description of himself, and on his way to Bloomsburgh acknowledged that he had traveled with Sowers from Illinois, and that he positively denied having killed him. He says that he learned Sowers as a brother, and would not have harmed him.

After his arrival at Bloomsburg, the excitement among the citizens of that place was most intense, even to a lynching degree, but by the prevention and firmness of the authorities, all manifestation of that kind were nipped in the bud.

THE WHEAT CROP.—The present prospect for a wheat crop is more than ordinarily flattering. The extreme cold weather of winter seems to have preserved rather than injured it. The growth upon the ground is very thick, and the deep, genial rains of April will give it a healthy vitality. Should no injury befall it before it ripens, we shall have an unusually large yield. We might say an extraordinary quantity, as the yield of acres sown is almost double that of any former season. During a recent visit to Perry county, we were told that fields varying from thirty to eighty acres in extent, owned by farmers who had before scarcely 40ths. say.—Chester (Ill.) Herald.

SPRING TRAVEL ON THE MISSOURI RIVER.—The Jefferson City Inquirer of the 14th, contains the following items:

"The spring travel seems to have set in, and all the world seems to be on the wing. Day before yesterday the Saharan, one of the Packet railroad packets, brought down about 400 passengers.

"Soon after the arrival of the cars yesterday afternoon, the Packet railroad packet Dabrnell left for Weldon, crowded with passengers. We have no doubt the channel opposite Claysville has washed out sufficient to let the boats pass over the bar at that place."

OUR IMMENSE STOCK OF SPRING CLOTHING,

Of the manufacture of which we have exceeded the past two years, and the unanimous verdict of the public is that we have not only excelled all other houses in the city, but also in the style and workmanship of the garments we have made for the past two years, and the public generally, by the liberal patronage bestowed upon us, have enabled us to keep constantly employed a large force of workmen, which has enabled us to keep pace with the rapidly rising demand, and to offer to the trade and consumers the most extensive and desirable stock ever offered in Chicago.
